WANT OF CONFIDENCE.

Rev. A. Pali Voted Out of His Pastorate—He Will Appeal the Case.

A correspondent from Lahaina, Maui, writes in the Kuokoa of yesterday that on Sunday, the 14th inst., R. H. Makekau presented a want of confidence resolution against Rev. A. Pali, pastor of the native Protestant church at Lahaina for many years past. Sixty members and the church deacons signed the resolution.

Pali protested against the resolution, arguing that the signers had exceeded their authority, as it was only the Evangelical Association of Maui which could decide the matter.

On motion of D. Kahaleleio, the resolution was deferred until the regular meeting of the Maui Evangelical Association, the chairman giving the casting vote.

Calls of kanaluwa were made, but the chairman hesitated to reconsider the vote.

W. White, of lottery bill fame, cited rules of the last Hawaiian legislature bearing on "kanaluwa" (doubtful) and at last his argument prevailed.

The resolution was put again, and the meeting voted out Rev. Mr. Pali.

The chairman (Rev. J. K. Hihio) then countersigned the resolution. Mr. Pali will appeal his case to the higher ecclesiastical court.

The charge made against Rev. Mr. Pali was that he had signed the roll of the annexation club of Maui.

AN IMPRESSIVE FAREWELL.

An Affectionate Leave-taking Between Two Sprinkling Cart Drivers.

An amusing episode took place yesterday just previous to the departure of the steamer. A well-known driver of one of the street sprinkling carts, having come into the possession of the sum of $150, determined to see the World's Fair and engaged passage on the Australia. About an hour or two previous to the time of sailing, he started out with a bosom friend in the same line of business to say good-bye to all the saloon men in town. Having done this and safely reached the wharf again, driver No. 1 took his friend across the street and, without a word of warning, commenced to pummel him unmercifully. Driver No. 2, after he had recovered from the first onslaught, returned the pummeling with interest, and, to use the expression of a bystander, "everlastingly thumped him." The parties were separated, driver No. 2 going about his business, while driver No. 1 was picked up by his friends and carried on board the Australia in an almost paralyzed condition. No arrests were made.

ABOUT TOBACCO.

A St. Paul Manufacturer Asks Some Questions.

Mr. Joseph Marsden, commissioner of agriculture, has received a letter from Mr. G. F. Kuhles, of the firm of Kuhles & Stock, tobaccoists of St. Paul, Minn., making inquiries about the prospects of the tobacco industry in Hawaii. The following is a portion of Mr. Kuhles' letter:

"I have read your article on tobacco in the Planter's Monthly, for December, 1892. Could you send me a 'hand' of the tobacco raised in Hawaii, as I would like to examine it. I have no doubt that tobacco raising can be made a success in the islands if done in the right way by experienced growers. It is a science and takes lots of work to grow a good crop.

"It is my idea that a similar tobacco to the Sumatra, which is used largely for wrappers in this country and brings from $1.50 to $2 a pound in bond might be raised profitably in Hawaii. I should think also that something like the Havana which is used mainly as 'fillers' and brings in Havana from 30 to 50 cents and from 50 cents up for wrapper lots might also be raised there."

Mr. Kuhles further states that if he can get favorable information on the question he will probably visit Hawaii soon to make investigations preparatory to locating a branch factory here, or preliminary to making large importations from Hawaii to his factory at St. Paul.

In connection with the matter Commissioner Marsden states that last fall he distributed seed of Sumatra tobacco to different persons here for planting, and requests that reports be forwarded to him together with samples of the tobacco grown, if any.
